

HEALTH PROFESSIONS

AT WALDEN UNIVERSITY

We led an education revolution so you could lead the way for a healthier world.

Walden University's College of Health Professions stands out in the health sciences because of our scholar-practitioner model. It's designed for health professionals who embrace social change, critical thinking, evidence-based decision-making, and action.

Our programs will prepare you to make an impact on the physical, social, mental, and emotional well-being of individuals and communities.

YOU'RE IN GOOD COMPANY

We're No. 1 in master's in health professions graduates in the U.S.*

WE PREPARE YOU TO LEAD

Our programs develop leaders who engage in critical and creative thinking to address the health needs of communities here and around the world.

ACCREDITED MPH AND DRPH PROGRAMS

Our Master of Public Health and Doctor of Public Health programs are accredited by the Council on Education for Public Health.

Walden gave me the opportunity to do my fellowship in a community health center, which had locations from North Miami to the Keys. We served a large immigrant population, homeless population, and many underserved communities.

ONLINE LEARNING THAT WORKS FOR WORKING PROFESSIONALS

For decades, we've been providing a clear path forward—no matter what's happening in your world. We were among the first to show society that an online education is a powerful force for good. We've given generations of health professionals the freedom to be ambitious and the confidence to work toward a healthier society for all.
